REVIVAL IN BUSINESS.

The reports from the East indicate that confidence has been somewhat restored since the Presidential election. The gold men who were hoarding money in bank vaults and tin cans have decided to get it into circulation, and if possible make it productive. Orders made contingent upon the election of McKinley are being filled, and probably, for a short time at least, there will be something of a business revival.

Everybody, of course, sincerely hopes that times will improve and that there will be an advance in the prices of real estate and other kinds of property, and employment for all who are able and willing to work. If these hopes are realized there will be no cause to regret the result of the election, but, if, as reported, the shops and the factories are now overlooked with goods, for which there is no market, because consumers have no money to buy them, it is not probable that the stocks will be increased, except to fill orders made by Mr. Hanna and his lieutenants contingent upon the result of the election.

Our greatest financiers say that there can be no permanent prosperity until the volume of money is increased. There is not a dollar more in circulation to-day than there was before election, except the few millions expended in the large cities to convince voters that it was for the best interests of the country to elect McKinley.

It will not increase the ability of people to pay for more or better clothing and food, to advance the prices of these necessities, but if better opportunities are given consumers to get money by increasing its volume, then, in the language of the sporting fraternity, "they can stand the raise."

It will be remembered that when Congress was convened in extra session to repeal the Bullion Purchase act, the advocates of repeal told us it would restore confidence. It did so for a few weeks so far as the raids on the gold reserve were concerned, but in a few months bonds were issued to replenish the gold in the Treasury and the business revival was short lived.

That times will mend is a consummation devoutly to be wished, but our ablest political economists say that more money is essential to permanent prosperity in the United States.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The next Congress will be Republican so far as the House of Representatives is concerned. The majority is yet an uncertain quantity. Every Democrat and fusion Congressman will be a silver man. Representative Newlands will no longer feel lonesome as he will have at least 150 silver men on his side of the House.

The Senate will have 42 Republicans, 32 Democrats and 11 silver Republicans and Populists. There are five Senators whose terms will expire next March and whose successors may or may not be silver men. It will require 45 to control the Senate and the Republicans will not have that many unless they carry Kentucky and other doubtful States.

It is claimed by a prominent Republican at Canton, Ohio, that a combination will be formed between the Republicans and gold Democrats which will give the gold men control of the Senate. That may prove true, but as it now looks with the Democrats in the ascendancy in the Kentucky and Delaware legislatures silver Senators will probably be elected in both States.

THE NEXT LEGISLATURE.

The State Legislature is composed of fifteen Senators and thirty Assemblymen. There are nine hold-over Senators, three of whom—Kaiser of Churchill, Summerfield of Washoe and Mills of Ormsby—are Republicans. At the recent election this number was not increased, as there was not a Republican Senator elected, so the Senate will stand twelve Silver and Democratic to three Republicans. At the election last Tuesday thirty Assemblymen were elected, three of whom were Republicans. These are Hodgkinson of Washoe, Oliver of Ormsby and Hironymous of Douglas. There will, therefore, be thirty-nine Silver men and Democrats and six Republicans in both Houses, a silver majority of 38 on joint ballot. A majority of the members of the Legislature are pledged to John P. Jones, and doubtless every silver man will support him for United States Senator.

BRYAN GRACEFULLY ACKNOWLEDGES DEFEAT.

The Republican Party Now in a Position to Show Its Sincerity.

New York, Nov. 6.—William McKinley's election has been conceded by Chairman Jones of the Democratic National Committee and with becoming grace William J. Bryan has congratulated his opponent. The only doubtful States at this hour are Kentucky, Wyoming and South Dakota. In Kentucky, McKinley leads by a few hundred and an official count is necessary to determine the result. The same condition exists in South Dakota where the margin is very narrow. In Wyoming one Republican elector is successful and chances are for two more. The next Congress will stand: Republicans 218, Democrats 118, Populists and free silver Republicans 24. The lowest estimate of McKinley's vote in the Electoral College is 205.

BRYAN CONCEDES DEFEAT

Sends His Congratulations to McKinley.

IT IS THE PEOPLE'S WILL.

Chairman Hanna Claims Two Hundred and Sixty-Five Votes in the Electoral College—Large Republican Majority in Congress.

Special to the JOURNAL.

LINCOLN, Neb., November 5.—At 8:25 o'clock Senator Jones telegraphed to Mr. Bryan that he had given up the fight. Mr. Bryan said to the United Associated Press representative: "You may say that the election of McKinley is conceded, and that I will issue a statement to-night."

Mr. Bryan then wrote the following telegram:

"Hon. Wm. McKinley, Canton, Ohio.—Senator Jones has just informed me that the returns indicate your election, and I hasten to extend my congratulations. We have submitted the issues to the American people and their will is law. (Signed) WILLIAM J. BRYAN."

New York, November 5.—Chairman Mark Hanna has issued a statement in which he says McKinley has 255 electoral votes sure, and that he feels confident of thirteen more in Kentucky, two in Wyoming and eleven in North Carolina, which are in doubt.

The United Associated Press and the Washington (D. C.) Dispatch quote Chairman Babcock, who says he has complete reports from 193 Congressional Districts that have elected Republicans, 135 districts that have elected Democrats and Populists, and 28 districts in which returns are incomplete. These may all be classed as doubtful, with prospects that at least half of them may go Republican, which would make the total Republican membership in the 55th Congress 207. It is safe to say that under no circumstances will the membership fall below 200.

Returns received by the Associated Press up to 1:45 P. M. to-day indicate that McKinley has carried the following States: California, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin—290 electoral votes.

Bryan has carried the following States: Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia and Washington—167 electoral votes, leaving in doubt Wyoming, Kentucky and North Dakota—20 votes.

The Latest Returns.

KANSAS. EMFORIA, November 4.—Complete returns from 25 counties in this State give McKinley 42,875, Bryan 42,768.

COLORADO. DENVER, November 5.—Bryan's majority in this State will be from 120,000 to 130,000. Adams (Dem.) is elected Governor. The Legislature is entirely silver, not a single straight Republican being chosen.

IDAHO. BOISE CITY, November 5.—The Bryan electors will probably have 12,000 majority in this State. The Democratic Populist ticket is entirely elected, including Gunn for Congress. Dubois is defeated for the United States Senate, being succeeded by Cragget (Dem.).

KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, November 5.—Full Kentucky returns supposed to be nearly correct from 100 out of 119 counties give Bryan a plurality of 654. Of the nineteen missing counties seven give a Democratic majority of 220, and 12 gave a Republican majority of 5,400 in 1895.

The evening Times says with nine precincts missing McKinley has a plurality of 763. Democratic State Chairman Sommers says Bryan has carried Kentucky by 2,000.

ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, November 5.—The Tribune says 106 precincts out of 297 in the State give McKinley 6,147 and Bryan 6,152, giving McKinley a plurality of 95. In 1892 the same precincts gave 935 Republican plurality, making a loss of 840.

NEBRASKA.

LINCOLN, November 5.—Omaha and Douglas county complete give McKinley 12,344, Bryan 11,773; McCull (Rep.) for Governor 11,418, Holcomb (fusion) 12,040.

The Omaha Bee concedes Nebraska to Bryan from 5,000 to 6,000, and says Strode in the First and Mercer in the Second Congressional Districts are the only Republican Congressmen elected. The Fusionists will have nearly two-thirds majority in each branch of the Legislature.

The World-Herald claims Bryan's majority in Nebraska will be at least 10,000. It concedes Mercers election, but says the First District stands close and will require official count to decide.

WASHINGTON.

TACOMA, November 5.—Incomplete returns from all but four counties in the State give McKinley 24,409, Bryan 31,646. Congressmen—Doolittle, Rep., 22,052, Hyde, Rep., 21,782, Lewis, Dem., 20,868, Jonas, Silver Rep., 23,140. Governor—Sullivan, Rep., 24,109, Rogers, Pop., 23,098.

Los Angeles, Nov. 5.—Complete returns from Los Angeles city give McKinley 8,895, Bryan, 7,598. For Congress, McLachlan (rep.) 8,877, Barlow (dem.) 8,984. Complete returns from Los Angeles county including the city, give McKinley 18,776, Bryan 14,321. For Congress McLachlan (rep.) 25,280, Barlow (dem.) 17,802.

The Evening Express gives the figures from all the counties of the Sixth Congressional District to-day and asserts the Congressional election is still in doubt. The figures obtained give McLachlan (rep.) 23,423, Barlow (dem.) 23,645. Only seven precincts are missing.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 5.—Following are the returns of 80 out of 85 precincts in this county. The total vote outside of the city, 3,720, total vote of city 3,563, total vote in county 7,483. Presidential vote, Bryan, 3,703, McKinley, 3,547. Bryan's plurality 156.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Two Lives Saved.
Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this remedy for coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.

SENATOR STEWART'S VIEWS.

The Gold Victory Merely Temporary.
The Carson Appeal reports Senator Stewart as saying:
"The victory of McKinley, if it be a victory, is a defeat of the American people, and it means more falling prices, stagnation, misery and enforced idleness. It means that the money powers of Europe and America have deprived the people of the United States of their sovereign right to cast a free ballot. It means that the power of money, corporations and intimidation have obtained a victory over our institutions; at least two millions of voters were denied the right of free speech. They were given the alternative of bankruptcy in business, discharge from employment or the acceptance of bribes in every conceivable form to vote for gold monopoly, and the continuation of the robbery policy of Cleveland's administration. The dispatches Tuesday night from Republican sources claim an avalanche for Hanna's man, McKinley. The obvious purpose of claiming everything was to cover contemplated frauds in tampering with the ballot box to make the claim good. The dividing line is drawn between the money powers of the world and the robber trusts which they have created, and the American people. The bosses, venal politicians, corporations, trusts, the banks and the subsidized press are on one side, and the outraged people are on the other. The work of education is progressing; the war between plutocracy and democracy has just begun. A plain issue was all that was necessary, we now have it and the people know who the authors of hard times are and are resolved to prosecute the war for justice, liberty and independence until the laws for the better days of the republic are re-enacted, and the government of the people, by the people and for the people shall be restored. Plutocracy will learn that the temporary victory they have bought will be an expensive investment, and that so far from settling the question, it has brought out in bold relief the cruel robbery, the fraudulent practices and the insolent rule of avarice and corruption. The people are congratulating themselves that they first raised the flag of revolt against foreign and domestic robbery, and they have never lowered the flag or trailed it in dust, but have carried it higher and higher at every election until they have reduced the number of the enemy of the republic to a paltry gang of selfish beggars for federal office.
"The people of the United States will not waste an hour in renewing the struggle for emancipation from the tyranny of avarice which has sent want and misery to the household of every laborer in the land. Great sacrifices have been made and must be made, but the American people will never falter until plutocracy is destroyed. I feel like congratulating them on the noble fight they have made against concentrated wealth, which they produce for others to enjoy. The spirit of determination which they have exhibited cannot be conquered. If plutocracy has been compelled to spend fifty millions this election, one hundred and fifty millions will be inadequate to bribe and coerce the American people four years hence.
"The expenditure by anarchists of wealth of tens of millions to overthrow the Government of the people by bribery, corruption, fraud and coercion will arouse the indignation of all honest men. It has opened the eyes of the people to the hypocritical cant of the conspirators and shown that the charge that the American people are anarchists, was the cry of 'stop thief' to conceal their conspiracy against the liberty of the masses. The plutocrats may as well understand now that if they continue this struggle, their ill gotten wealth will be distributed before the contest is over because the American people have resolved to crush the monster who has deprived them of prosperity, freedom and abundance, and plunged them into want and misery."

IMPORTANT TO CANDIDATES.

They Must File Affidavits of Expenditures.
The Purity of Elections law, Section 3, provides that:
"Every candidate who is voted for at any public election, held within the State, shall, within fifteen days after the day of holding any such election, file, as hereinafter provided, an itemized statement, showing in detail all moneys paid, loaned, contributed, or otherwise furnished to him or for his use directly or indirectly, in aid of his election, and all moneys contributed loaned or expended by him, directly or indirectly, by himself or through any other person in aid of his election. Such statements shall give the names of the various persons who paid, loaned contributed or otherwise furnished such moneys in aid of his election, and the names of the various persons to whom such moneys were contributed, loaned or paid, the specific nature of each item, the service performed, and the purpose for which the money was expended, contributed or loaned. There shall be attached to such statement an affidavit, subscribed and sworn to by such candidate."
The form of this affidavit must be substantially as follows:
STATE OF NEVADA,
COUNTY OF WASHOE, ss
I, _____, having been a candidate for the office of _____, at the election held in Washoe county, Nevada, on the 3d day of November, 1896, do solemnly swear that the foregoing statement is a full and true account of all moneys expended by me, or in my behalf in said election, and that, except as herein stated, I have not, nor to the best of my knowledge and belief, has any person, club, society or association, on my behalf, directly or indirectly, made any payment, or given, promised or offered any reward, office or employment, or valuable consideration, or incurred any liability, on account of, or in respect of the conduct or management of the said election, except such moneys as may have been paid to or expended by the committee selected, as prescribed by the act of the Legislature of the State (approved March 18, 1895). And I furthermore solemnly swear that, except as aforesaid, no money, security or equivalent for money has to my knowledge or belief been paid, advanced, given or deposited by anyone, to or in the hands of myself or any other person, for the purpose of defraying any expense incurred on my behalf, or in aid of my election, or on account of, or in respect of the conduct or management of said election. And I further solemnly swear that I will not, at any future time, make, or be a party to the making or giving any payment or reward, office, employment or valuable consideration for the purpose of defraying any such expenses as last mentioned, or provide, or be a party to the providing of, any money, security or equivalent for money for the purpose of defraying any such expenses.
Candidates for local offices shall file their statements in the office of the Clerk of the county where the election was held. The penalty for refusal or neglect to file the statement and affidavit is forfeiture of office, in addition to the punishment prescribed by the laws of the State.
Diphtheria Cure.
The testimony of a prominent physician:
FOUNTAIN CITY, Ind., June 17, 1895.
This certifies that I have been using V. O. in my practice. I have never found any medical preparation in 46 years of practice that is calculated to do so much good in so wide a range of diseases and leave no after bad effects. In Diphtheria it has proved a perfect specific in my hands, and I had rather depend on it alone in that dreadful disease than the whole popular Materia Medica with that left out. For sale by T. W. Mosquito Vaccination.

Within the last two years a family moved from the city to the country. There were about the new place a great number of mosquitoes, and the possibility of an intimate acquaintance with this insect was a serious drawback to their enjoyment of their new home. As the mosquito season arrived there were complaints of suffering that made night a dread. By some means mosquitoes would get into the house, even though every door and window were tightly screened. The theory was that infant mosquitoes crept through the wires and grew to maturity in the apartment. At all events they did their mischievous work to the great discomfort and distress of the members of the household, but they were located and could not change their residence, a thing they would gladly have done for this reason alone, so serious was the trouble.
Toward the latter part of the season it was observed that the bites, instead of swelling and forming blotches an inch or so across, grew less annoying until on several occasions there were bites on the hands that produced no results beyond the immediate sting of the bite. A little notice proved the fact that several members of the family had by some process become practically exempt, and the mosquito plague became but a trifling item of annoyance. It might be interesting to follow up this subject and see whether the introduction of this poison into the system has the same effect as vaccination, rendering the person almost if not altogether proof against suffering from future punctures from these hitherto troublesome pests. —New York Ledger.
Army Music in England.
Since 1857 every army musician in England must have passed through a course of instruction at Kneller hall—the former residence in Twickenham of Sir Godfrey Kneller. The bandmen are supposed to be more private soldiers and receive the regulation drilling a day, plus a penny extra for the guards, and discipline per diem to provide themselves with furnished rooms.
It is of course absurd to suppose that first-rate performers would be satisfied with the miserable stipend when they could easily earn 25 or 30 a week by taking evening work at the theatre. They therefore receive a varying extra allowance from the band and of the government, the government contributing 1000 a year per regiment toward the cost of private instruction.
The Driver's Error.
A "Londoner" writing to the meaning of a word sometimes leads to peculiar situations. "I," said R. A. L. Smith of Chicago. "In company with several other ministers I was riding in a stage or hack, which served the purpose of a stage, en route to a camp meeting. The road wound around the mountains, and the air was delightful, while the scenery was almost sublime. I was invigorated as though by a powerful tonic, and several times remarked upon the ozone in the air. After one of these observations the driver stopped his horses, and, beckoning to me slyly, climbed from the seat. Wondering what he could want, I followed him, and soon we were behind a large tree, out of the view of the wagon. 'Beware!' said the driver, 'I couldn't bear to see you suffer. The ozone you smelled was in my pocket.' With these words he drew forth a large bottle of whisky, which he offered to me. It took several minutes to convince him that it was not whisky I had referred to as ozone." —Washington Star.
Decorations and Orders.
"What is the difference," asks a correspondent, "between a yellow jacket, a button or a peacock's feather on the one hand, and a thistle, a bath or a garter on the other? Why do we lavish so much ridicule on the importance attached to the first set of emblems by the Chinese when we ourselves set just as much store by the second set?" There is much food for thought in these questions, and I commend them to the attention of the wags in the press who are always poking fun at Li Hung Chang's yellow jacket and peacock's feathers. Looking at the matter impartially, it seems to me that a yellow jacket, or a glass button, or a peacock's feather, is more suitable for decorative purposes than either a bath or a garter. I do not say a thistle, because, no doubt, that is an object highly appropriate to many of those whom it has been conferred. —London Truth.
They Like Chinamen.
The black cannibals of northern Queensland are exceedingly partial to Chinamen. The reason is said to be that the flesh of the Chinese is peculiarly tender and palatable owing to rice being their staple article of diet. There is now a numerous Chinese population in the north of Queensland, and scores of them who have ventured beyond the confines of civilization have been captured and devoured by the natives. —London Standard.

WYANDOTTE CAVE.

A PARTIAL DESCRIPTION OF THIS WONDERFUL "GROUND HOLE."

Among the Many Curious Things the Greatest Is the Pillar of the Constitution —It Is 44,000 Years Old or Many Thousand Times That Age.

Wyandotte cave is inferior to Mammoth in length, and yet a walk through its 23 miles of avenues and chambers convince the visitor that there is enough and to spare. Of course he usually takes only the three routes—13 miles—and is satisfied. As is the case with all other caves that are in business, a bear bears the credit of discovering this natural wonder. It was in this way: In the early days of this state a hunter one day saw a bear and shot but did not kill it, whereupon he gave chase and was in close pursuit, when, lo and behold, it disappeared! This much puzzled the seasoned hunter, and he stood in amazement, but, finally summoning his resolution he went to the spot where the animal had vanished. There was a large opening in the side of the hill. Investigation revealed the existence of this vast underground possession. So much for tradition. The same thing occurred with every other cave, and why not with this?

The existence of this cave has been known for years. As early as 1819 it was owned by a white man who gathered saltpeter in its chambers and made gunpowder—a precious article in the backwoods. The early settlers worked the cave that way for years, going farther and farther from the entrance in search of this mineral. Finally it ceased to be necessary or profitable to make their own powder, and the owner of the cave abandoned it, and the land reverted to the general government. In 1849 or 1850 a man named Rothrock bought the land and explored the cave. At that time only four miles were known, but by chance a small opening was noticed, and an investigation revealed the fact that a new and greater portion had been discovered. This unknown route was explored, six miles more of cave came into possession of the owner, and it first occurred to him that he had a bonanza.
The new find brought the cave into notice, and subsequent discoveries have placed it among the wonders of America.

It was 46 years ago that Mr. Rothrock, then a young man, commenced acting as guide among the labyrinth of passageways under the hill. Now comes one of the most interesting features of the cave. When he began his visits here, he heard the drip, drip of the waters that never cease and saw the stalactites —little fingers of stone which had been made by the dripping waters. To test the growth of the stone stems he marked one with the smoke of a candle and awaited results. Almost 50 years have elapsed, and he returns today to the stone timekeeper and measures the growth—three-sixteenths of an inch.
There are columns here seven feet high formed by the constant drop of water.
Only a few feet from the top you pass from the known to the prehistoric.

Wyandotte is beautiful in sediment formation—stalagmites and stalactites that form from floor and ceiling, growing scarcely a hairbreadth in a year, but gradually lessening the distance between their crystal points until in time they meet and form columns of translucent stone, beautiful and elastic in design, the despair of architects. Fancy a chamber of imposing dimensions, the lofty ceiling supported by these divinely wrought pillars, the concave walls venered with a coating of sparkling diamonds, the delicate glitter of gold and silver in boundless wealth, and you have Aladdin's cave, as rich as the ava-reicious vision of the Arabian dreamer.

The new routes reveal the beauties of crystal, the old route presents the terrific, the grand, the passages and chambers are rough, broken, the barren ruggedness that turns one's thoughts to grandeur. This route terminates in the climax of attractions. This is the senate chamber, and from its center, seemingly out of a boiling caldron of molten lava that had been chilled and left immovable, rises the pillar of the constitution. It stands alone, the grandest column ever erected by man or his master. Thirty feet in height, 75 feet in circumference, with a fluted surface and unbroken body, it stands in perpetual darkness, no ray of light ever gilding its sparkling exterior save that from a flickering candle.

Let us take out our notebook and calculate the age of this venerable pile. The gray bearded guide has told us that the fragile finger of stone grew three-six-teenths of an inch in nearly 50 years—one inch in 245 years. This pillar is 30 feet high, 360 inches—two centuries and 48 years to one single inch. But then it forms from floor and ceiling, so that 2 inches are formed in that time.
According to our calculation it has been 44,100 years since the foundation of this column was laid. But we have omitted one factor. The stone finger would have formed in that time, but this is 600 times as great in diameter.
Our pencils and books again—but this is bewildering. We cannot conceive of the lapse of time contained in the 44,000 years. Why go on piling ages upon ages? Who is brave enough to say that America lacks age? Why, compared with this, the Romans were but squatters upon the homestead of antiquity.

Before leaving I found a small piece of rock the Indians had dug from the pillar. It had been 700 years since the rockskins had made ornaments from this beautiful stone, and I carried it away with me as a relic (as ancient as an American can well stand up under) of the column whose foundation was laid in the eternity of the past.—Indianapolis Journal.

It is a long walk from the dining room of the Westminster school to the coronation chair, which stands behind the old stone screen just back of the

teresting connection between the two.
This chair, as is well known, is a rude,

It contains the "Stone of Scone" and was made by the order of Edward I in 1297, and every English sovereign since then has sat in it to be crowned.

A stout railing in front of the chair restrains the crowd of visitors from coming near, but if they were allowed to examine it as closely as I was fortunate enough to do they would find on the solid oak seat in such sprawling letters as the school-boy's knife makes upon his desk, "P.
Abbott slept in this chair Jan. 4, 1801."

P. Abbott, it seems, was a Westminster schoolboy, and a tradition, which there is every reason to believe is true, tells that he made a wager with a school-mate that he dare stay in the abbey all night.

In order to win his wager he hid in some corner of the old building until the doors were locked for the night and thus was left alone there. Fearing, however, that when morning came the boy with whom he had made the bet would disbelieve his statement that he had won it, he determined to have some proof of the fact, and so spent the hours of the early morning in carving on the coronation chair the sentence which, even now, nearly a century after, bears witness for him. It is disappointing that the tradition does not record just what form and amount of punishment was visited upon the lad for his escapade, and that history does not tell us of his later years. I wonder whether the courage and grit which this deed manifested foretold an energetic, successful life or was dissipated in mere bravado.—Max Bennett Thrasher in St. Nicholas.

"STONE OF SCONE."

The Enterprising Schoolboy Who Slept In the Coronation Chair.

It is a long walk from the dining room of the Westminster school to the
coronation chair, which stands behind
the old stone screen just back of the altar in the abbey, but there is an interesting connection between the two.
This chair, as is well known, is a rude,
heavy oak chair, much worn by time.
It contains the "Stone of Scone" and
was made by the order of Edward I in 1297, and every English sovereign since then has sat in it to be crowned.

A stout railing in front of the chair
restrains the crowd of visitors from
to examine it as closely as I was fortunate enough to do they would find
on the solid oak seat in
such sprawling letters as the school-

Now Orthography.
Mamma—Well, Elsie, what did you learn at school today?
Elsie (aged 6)—Learned to spell.
Mamma—Now, what did you learn to spell?
Elsie—Mau.
Mamma—And how do you spell mau?
Elsie (promptly)—M-a-u, mau.
Mamma—Now, how do you spell boy?
Elsie (after a moment's reflection)—
The same way, only in littler letters.—
